

Robert Vislosky

Robert Vislosky is Chief Supply Chain and Procurement Officer, responsible for planning, logistics, procurement and sourcing. Coming to NOVA Chemicals with more than 20 years' experience leading procurement teams across various industries, Vislosky brings deep expertise in supply chain management and global sourcing.

Prior to joining NOVA Chemicals, Vislosky was Chief Supply Officer at specialty vehicle manufacturer Rev Group. Ahead of that role, Vislosky held various executive supply chain leadership positions including Vice President of Global Sourcing and Chief Procurement Officer at Reynolds Packaging, Senior Vice President and Chief Procurement Officer at Valspar, Senior Vice President and Chief Procurement Officer at XPO Logistics, Chief Procurement Officer at Honeywell as well as Chief Supply Chain Officer for Honeywell Intelligrated.

Vislosky earned both his bachelor's in and Master of Chemical Engineering from the University of Pittsburgh and is a Six Sigma Black Belt. He serves as an advisor to Balmoral Funds and has sat on the Board for Harbison Walker International, CAPS Research, and APICS. He previously served as an Executive Council Member for the American Heart Association and was on the Board of Advisors for the University of Minnesota Carlson School.